

I believe that Sinclair Broadcasting's plan to air an anti-Kerry "documentary" before the presidential election is misguided and an affront to the industry and to the public. The same would be true if the program was going to defame President Bush.

My understanding is that such action may also violate federal campaign laws.

I hope that the FCC will be able to take action to prevent Sinclair from following through on its plan. No one truly wins when the airwaves are allowed to be used in this manner.

Thank you!
